Certificate Course in FRONT END Developer

This Specialization teaches you how to develop syntactically valid coding techniques to create interactive web experiences. By mastering this set of technologies, you'll be able to create high- quality websites that perform on mobile, tablet, and large-screen browsers. Throughout the capstone, you will create a professional-quality web portfolio that demonstrates your development as a web developer and your understanding of accessible web design. This will involve your ability to develop and build a responsive site that makes use of resources to make it accessible to a wide range of users, including those with visual, audial, physical, and cognitive disabilities. (Mini banner-) Web Development Certification Course for your successfully coded future!
